Communication, Cooperation, Self Confidence

action for life™

It doesn't matter if your thing is computers, sports, academics or the social scene; you always need communication and cooperation skills to make things happen in life.

Discover ways to be included, confident and successful in teams and groups. Learn how to make and keep friends by listening to them and talking so they will listen to you.

Action for Life (AFL) gives you lots of ideas and skills which you put into action in activities requiring cooperation, communication, creative thinking and problem solving. Use what you learn in AFL in all of your relationships at home, school and everywhere you go.

COURSES & INSTRUCTORS

AFL courses are conducted in schools, groups, clubs, churches and other youth organizations.

AFL courses are taught by certified instructors who have participated in a special Action for Life Instructor Training program.

Details about the content and process for scheduling an Instructor Training for your organization can be obtained by writing to:
